

Quickly assess risks in your environment with Insider Risk Management Analytics

Tap into insights from Insider Risk Management analytics

 Uncover hidden insider risks in your environment.

 Detect anomalous and risky activities that may lead to security incidents.

 Receive an analysis on findings and associated risks in 48 hours.

 Get recommended actions that can help mitigate risk.

 Create policies in one step.

We want to help you manage insider risks

As a technology provider, we understand the challenges businesses have when it comes to protecting data and managing risks—particularly when it comes to guarding against insider risks.

Let us show you how Microsoft Purview Insider Risk Management takes data security beyond traditional data loss prevention. Now you can easily identify risky user activity that may lead to data security incidents and give you actionable insights to manage it effectively.

As your business-critical data expands and your workforce environment evolves, having an integrated approach that can help quickly identify, triage, and act on risky insider user activity that may lead to data security incidents is more important than ever.

Analytics makes it even easier to understand critical insider risks with a baseline assessment that delivers insight into whether you need to create additional policies or not.

User activity

Understand what percentage of users are performing activities that may lead to potential security incidents.

Exfiltration activity

Identify top exfiltration methods (e.g., copying files to USB, emailing externally, and downloading SharePoint files).

Policy recommendations

Easily create policies based on assessment findings and recommendations.

Let us help you get started

Valorem Reply is a Microsoft partner with a robust security practice providing security solutions to businesses like yours, and we have the expertise you need to put in place an effective data security strategy. We can show you how simple it is to use Insider Risk Management analytics—and stop insiders from purposefully or inadvertently exposing your data.

Contact us today.

info.valorem@reply.com | www.valoremreply.com | (855) 864-9929